

NIAUSI continues its 2012 Fellowship Program for research and travel in Italy!

Special Fellowship Exclusively for UW Rome Center Student Alumni

Applications Due by February 15, 2012

Since 1985, NIAUSI has provided Fellowships for Northwest professionals in the art and design fields to pursue individual research in Italy. In 2011, to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the founding of the University of Washington's Rome Center, the Northwest Institute for Architecture and Urban Studies in Italy (NIAUSI) established an exciting new Fellowship opportunity for current or recently graduated student alumni of the programs conducted at the UW Rome Center. Based on the success of that Fellowship we are now accepting applications for a Fellowship opportunity for travel and research, open to student alumni from all Rome Center programs (not only design-related).

This Fellowship will provide a one month stay in one of the restored medieval houses maintained by NIAUSI at its Civita Institute facilities in the ancient hill town of Civita di Bagnoregio, located north of Rome.

Civita serves as an extraordinary "home base" for our Fellows in central Italy – a region that is rich in history, art and culture. The successful applicant will be chosen by a jury based on a proposal for research in Italy that also explores issues relevant to the Pacific Northwest. Fellowship proposals may come from any of the subject areas represented by the programs conducted through the UW Rome Center.

The NIAUSI UW Rome Center Alumni Fellowship is open to current student alumni of any of the programs offered by the University of Washington at the UW Rome Center. "Current student alumni" are those students who are currently enrolled in or have completed a UW program based at the UW Rome Center and are either currently enrolled in a college or university or have graduated from a college or university on or after April 1, 2010. Those who have graduated prior to April 1, 2010 are potentially eligible for NIAUSI's (separate) professional Fellowships.

The NIAUSI UW Rome Center Alumni Fellowship application period opens December 15, 2011 and applications must be submitted by February 15, 2012. Fellowship decisions will be made by March 15, 2012 for a residency to be taken between March 15, 2012 and March 15, 2013.
